Prevent Identity Theft, Save Time and Money with Us!

Identity theft is one of the most prevalent crimes in the U.S. today. If your customer and employee information is not properly destroyed, your business could be at risk for a lawsuit and even be discredited.

You may think that purchasing paper shredders and placing them around the office will provide sufficient protection for your company information. However, this alone doesn't guarantee that your sensitive documents will be properly destroyed.

Save Time and Money by Outsourcing Your Shredding Services!

Many organizations have the perception that outsourcing is more expensive and less secure than other methods. They also have the misconception that outsourcing is only necessary when you have large amounts of documents to be destroyed.

In reality, most small and medium-sized business employees are overwhelmed with their daily work. They simply don't have the time to destroy their confidential documents using a slow, tedious office shredder. A savvy business owner knows that paying employees to spend their time shredding is a poor use of resources. Not only do in-house shredders waste money, they break down easily and produce noise and dust.

What's worse, shredding your documents yourself provides no record compliance. That means that if your customers or the government requests it, you have no way of proving you've destroyed certain documents.

Benefits of Outsourcing Your Document Shredding

1. Employees can spend more time being productive for your business.
2. No more additional expenses of buying and repairing shredders.
3. You get a Certificate of Destruction to ensure compliance with customer and government requests.

Outsourcing your monthly document destruction is far more cost-effective than handling it internally.
